LINCS

L – List the new vocabulary word and its definition.

I – Identify a Reminding Word

In Section 3, write a reminding word that will give you a clue to help you remember the new vocabulary term.

The reminding word must:

- sound similar to part or all of the new term AND
- be a word that has a familiar meaning to you

The reminding word:

- can be one word or two or more words that sound like the new word
- can be the root of the new vocabulary word

N – Note a LINCing Story

In Section 4, write a story that helps you connect the meaning of the new term to information that is familiar to you.

An effective LINCing story:

- always includes the reminding word
- always contains the meaning of the definition of the new term in some way
- always short and simple
- sometimes contains the new vocabulary word

C – Create a LINCing Picture

In section 5, draw a LINCing picture. The picture is a memory device that provides a visual memory link to the new term. It does NOT need to be sophisticated art work! Stick figures are OK.

An effective LINCing picture includes:

- important parts from the definition of the new vocabulary term
- a part related to the reminding word

S – Self-Test Now use your LINCing to review the terms. Be sure to review ALL of the parts of each LINC – the definition, reminding word, story, and picture.
